THE WEEK IN SOCIETY.

THEATRE PARTIES, WEDDINGS AND DANCES. ENTERTAINING FRIENDS AT THE PLAY-THE FIRST ASSEMBLY.

The past week has been one of considerable animation in the social calendar, with three brilliant nights at the opera, various theatre parties, more days at home than were convenient for most people, and, to the debutantes at least, an affair of great importance, the first Delmenice ball of the season, the Assembly. The Lyceum Theatre on Monday night presented an unusually brilliant appearance owing to two large theatre parties, both of which were followed by sup-The larger of the parties was given by Mrs. Henry Allen for her handsome daughter, Miss Margaret Alien, who is a great granddaughter of Commodore Vanderbilt. The party, according to the present custom, met at Mrs. Allen's residence, No. 3 West Thirty-seventh-st., and were conveyed to the theatre in stages, returning to the house for supper in the same conveyances. Each of the young ladies carried a cluster of flowers, and all were without bonnets. Among the party, which numbered nearly fifty, were Miss Lillian Ferris, Miss Frasita Wesson, Miss Laura Coukling. Miss Lucle Droper, Miss Butterfield, Miss Bessie Perkins, Miss Elsie Mitchell, Miss Sallie Nicoli, Mr. and Mrs. L. Mortimer Thorn, jr., Miss Floyd-Jones, Conde Thorn, Miss Fanny Betts, John Gilford, Louis Keller, James Ward, Henry Short, Alexander Hadden, and Paul Gibert Thebaud.

The other party was given by John C. Furman, for his sister, Miss Mamie Furman, who has recently re-turned to New-York after a long residence in Europe. The party first dined at Delmonico's, afterward going to the Lyceum Theatre and then returning to Delonico's for supper and an informal dance. Mrs. Paran Stevens and Mrs. Coster were the matrons. The party included Miss Coster, Miss Hargous, Miss Bend, Miss Annie Cutting, Miss Post, H. Le Grand Cannon, R. L. Hargous, W. Cutting, B. Cutting, and Oliver Harriman, fr.

The wedding of Miss Julia Florence Schieffelin to J. Bruce Ismay, at 11:30 o'clock on Tuesday morning, filled the Church of the Heavenly Rest with a nable assemblage, including many young friends of the pair. Fortunately the sun came out just before the time set for the wedding, the early morning promising a snow squall. Miss Schieffelin was a beautiful bride, in her Empire gown of white motre oid lace. Her point lace veil was with a tiara of diamonds and a cross of diamonds was worn on a necklace of pearls. Mr. Ismay came to this country a short time ago to assume the charge of the White Star Line of steamships, of which his father is one of the principal owners. A small breakfast followed at the bride's home in East Forty-lifth-st., just around the corner from the church. On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Ismay will sail for England on the Adriatic.

The other important wedding of the week was that of Miss Helen Low, the daughter of C. Adolphe Low, to Percy Chubb, of this city, in the Authon Memorial Church, All Souls' Church, as it is also called. in West Forty-eighth-st., the Rev. Dr. Heber Newton. rector of the church, officiating. The ceremony took place at 8:30 o'clock. The bride was attired in a gown of pure white stik, richly trimmed with old point lace, A veil of the same lace was held in place with a tiars of diamonds, and her bouquet was of white violets. The bridesmaids, Miss Edith Low, a sister of the bride; Miss Mabel Chubb, a sister of the bridegroom; Miss Emma Jacob and Miss Louise Hamilton, ere attired in white crepe de chine over white silk, and carried bouquets of orchids. William Schall was the best man, and the ushers were Ernest C. Eliss. James Clinch Smith, Hugh Hill, John Marshall, William Carey Sanger and F. S. Watts. A reception for numate friends followed at Mr. Low's residence, No. 16 Best Sixty-ninth-st

The chief fashionable gathering of the week, the first Assembly, came on Wednesday night at Delmonico's. As many of the people in the boxes at German opera went directly to the ball. there was an unusual array of handsome dresses at the opera. The Assembly was a brilliant success, and the tes were out in full force. Mrs. Brockholst Outting, Mrs. Charles A. Post, Mrs. James G. K. Duer and Miss Whitney received the guests. cotillon did not begin until 2 o'clock, J. Frederick Isms, leading with Mrs. William Jay. The first of a series of dances at the Mendelssohn Glee Club rooms will take place on Friday evening next, under the patronage of Mrs. Robert Eliss. Mrs. Joseph J. Little. Mrs. E. De Jost, McKar, Mrs. John Elton Wayland, Mrs. W. H. H. Moore, and Mrs. Henry V. D. Black. The dances, seven in all, will occur on alternate Fridays.

Among the interesting diversions of the near future are the Patriarcha' ball at Delmonico's to-morrow night; a dance at Mrs. Arthur M. Dodge's on Monday evening December 17, and a ball at Delmonico's on December 20, given by Mrs. Jain Mintura for December 20, given by Mrs. Jain Mintura for Miss Katherine Mintura. The Patriarcha's ball will be a brilliant affair. Since the invitations have been Miss Katherine Minturn. The Patriarely ball will be a brilliant affair. Since the invitations have been sent out, the death of Malurin Livingston has occurred, which has thrown a large connection into mourning. Mrs. E. T. Gerry has been obliged to recall invitations for a dinner and a dance. The list of Patriarchs is nearly the same as last year. No new members have been added, but some of the old members' names appear again in the list, after a year of mourning.

A successful affair of the week was the reception held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. T. E. Tack, of No. 118 West Eighty-second-st., introducing into Society her daughter Mary. Miss Tack was assisted in receiving by Miss Lizzie Campbell, of this city, and Miss Adeie Tack, of Philadelphia.

The first of the series of cotillons organized by Miss Mary H. Brown and Miss Lilitan Red was held at the residence of Mrs. Brown, No. 42 East Fifty-seventh-st., on Friday evening. The cotillion was led by Mr. J. Montgomery Strong. Jr. Mrs. Brown was assisted in receiving by Miss Brown, Miss Bell, Miss Robinson, and Miss Campbell. The next of the series will be held at the residence of Mrs. Rell No. 248 Lexington ave.

THE DOWN-TOWN LAWYERS' RECEPTION.

A BRILLIANT ENTERTAINMENT IN THE EQUIT. ABLE BUILDING.

The autumn reception of the Lawyers' Down Town Club was held at their rooms, No. 120 Broadway, yesterday afternoon and was attended with their usual success. Between the hours of 2 and 5 carriages filled broadway in front of the Equitable Building, and kept the policemen busy. In the gayly decorated rooms, rich with rare flowers, half of the beauty and fame of New-York was congregated. At every step, one heard a distinguished name or passed a "vision of loveliness." It was with difficulty that one moved about, however, since over three thousand people responded to the invitations. But the organization in the dining-rooms was so perfect that there was no hitch. SUNDAY SERVICE IN A BALTIMORE SYNAGOGUL Baltimore, Doc. 7 (Special) - Sunday worship in the synagogues is agitating the rabbis and prominent Hebrews of this city. The movement is new in Baltimore and has its origin in the fact that the leaders of such congregations as indorse it believe it necessar, to provide some religious food for those who by bus ness engagements are prevented from attending religious service on Saturday. The orthodox Jews. however, believe in worship at the synagogue thrice daily, and this is maintained in the many houses of SUCCESS OF THE NORMAL COLLEGE FAIR. The fancy fair for the benefit of the library of t lumnae Association of the Normal College, which began at the Metropolitan Opera House Assembly Rooms on Thursday and closed last night, was in every way a great success. The various tables, which on the first day were piled high with pretty, useful and ornamental things, were at midnight last night bare. Everything had been sold, and, although the xpenses of the fair were enormous, the library fund was richer by about $2,009. Miss Margarite Merring ion, president of the Alimnae Association, who was in charge, and Miss Thurston, her chief aid, were the recipients of many compliments and congratulations upon the success that had been attained in the undertaking. But they said that it was as much due to the efforts of their many assistants as to their own that the fair had been so successful. President Hunter, of the Normal College, was present last night and made his presence known and his good wishes felt by making a purchase at every table.

OFFICERS STOP THE RABBIT-COURSING. HE ORDERS THE SPORT TO GO ON AND IS TAKEN BEFORE A JUSTICE, TOGETHER WITH

THREE OF HIS SERVANTS. The sport of the members of the Hempstead Coursing Club was again rudely interrupted shortly fter noon yesterday by the officers of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals. Superintendents Hankinson, of New-York, and Clark, of Brooklyn, together with fifteen officers, waited all the forenoon on the plains for the arrival of the party. The grounds selected were on the plains between Garden City and Hempstead, and about two miles east of the last meeting ground. Superintendent Hankinson arrived early upon the grounds A desperate effort was made to throw the officers off the scent, but it proved unsuccessful. The meeting was to have taken place at 11 o'clock sharp, but owing to the presence of the officers over an hour's time was lost in endeavoring to send the officers on a wild-goose chase. Superintendent Hankinson did not take kindly to the attempted deception, however, although he was assured by some that the meeting would positively be held at the Meadow Brook Kennels, over four miles away. Finally, towards noon, the members of the club and cany women began to arrive on horseback, in deg-carts and drags. Rabbits in boxes and dogs in charge of their masters were seen on the ground. Before any preliminaries could be arranged, howver, Superintendent Hankinson approached August Belmont, jr., who was apparently the prime mover in the sport, and said: "Mr. Belmont, do you ntend to let the dogs go after the rabbits?" 'I do," replied Mr. Belmont, as he gave orders

o his groom to open the box and release rabbit. Superintendent Hankinson all this while was autioning Mr. Belmont not to volate the law. Thompson, the groom, proceeded immediately to obey his master's orders. Officer Snowden had his foot placed firmly upon the trap of the box, and Ihompson, in carrying out Mr. Beimont's orders, was quickly arrested for interfering with an officer in the discharge of his duty.

While Thompson was on his way to court, officers Seymour and Bangs were placed in charge of the rabbit box. At this juncture the members and guests who were present in anticipation of seeing a fine day's sport denounced the action of the

In his "A lan Quaerman" he makes that doughty herter field in the in a lor of Africa a species of his of supassing beauty and fragrance. The American manufacturer is nothing if not enterprising. One of them saw a chance to try a new thing on. He presented a new odor and advertised it as final of Africa Quae main's Amean flower, and as such it is having a warm reception by the fashionable halies of New-York, who are always on the lockent for something new and riegant. It may be that the odor is ready drawn from an African high in fact it would be hard to tell just what the odor is. There is a suggestion of white clover at one time, of new mown hay at another, again of flace, and again of violeta or timest any other flower that can be named. And this peculiarity is the one that the most skillfol of blenders of high-class perfumes are always arxious to bring out.

A SOLUTION OF THE QUESTION, "WHAT SHALL I BUY FOR PRESENTS!"—A NOVEL AND USE-FUL ARTICLE IN THE REACH OF EVERY ONE AND GOOD ENOUGH FOR

THE PRESIDENT HIMSELF. Some people are very deficient in good sense and tact in the matter of Christmas and Moliday presents. and accomplish our aim to reduce this colossal stock. They give the wrong thing every time. Many of the presents that are given are about as inappropriate as a more graceful or more fiving manner than by presenting them each with one of these beautiful and useful tens. If you have found comfort from your pastor's sermons, you can serve him a food turn by giving him a "Dashaway" to aid him in the noble "Caws." And so on through the long range of avocations and conditions of life there are very few easies in which a bashaway would not make an appropriate and acceptable gift.

There is no trouble in dipping, as the fountain contains link enough to write forty or fifty pages of foolscap, and if earried in the pocket for weeks without use it writes as soon as touched to paper. There is no annoyance from blotting or failing to feed, as the "double feed"—one on top and the other underneath the gold pen—insures a more reliable flow than was possible with the old fashloned single-feed pens. There is nothing to wear out or get out of order but the gold pen, and as the average life of a gold pen is seven years, it is safe to assume that no more lasting present can be had for the money in all New-York. The prices range from $2.50 to $10, $2.60, according to the size of the pen and the ornamentation. No one in scarch of useful hollday presents will regret a visit to the Caw's Ink and Pen Co., 159 Broadway, opposite John-st., where all the latest novelties in the pen and pencil line are for sale.
